

Structured Products Research Service

Comprehensive research service on structured products for financial advisers providing excellent tools for compliant product selection and advice processes. This service has long been established as the most popular platform for analysis and comparison of structured products in the UK and offshore markets

UK Service

Launched in 1999, this service has featured over 5000 products from all the main product providers and is used by thousands of advisers as their leading source of independent research for product selection and to evidence compliance with FCA regulations.

Offshore Service

Structured Edge expanded into the offshore market in 2018 to provide this diverse region with the benefits of proper analysis and best practices. This is designed to help manage the raising of market standards through the introduction of MifID II and PRIIPs.

Key Features
